Jalloud hails Jordan's stand

KUWAIT, June 24 (Petra) - Libyan Maj, Abdul Salam Jalloud says Jordan has been supporting the unity of joint Arah action and is committed to Arab efforts to confront Israel.

Maj. Jalloud, a close aide of Libyan leader Col, Muammar Qadhafi, also said that Jordan. Syria and Iraq have a unique position in confronting Israeli aggression, and that the current Libyan initiative to improve its relations with other Arab countries was basically directed at these three countries.

In an interview with the Kuwaiti newspaper Al Watan he expressed hope that the initiative would have practical and serious torms results, and also condemned the Israeli strike at the Iraqi nuclear reactor as an international terrorist crime.

The interview was conducted in Amman during Maj. Jalloud's visit earlier this week, during which he met with His Majesty King Hussin before going on to Baghdad.

Supreme Court casts a cool eye on deal that set hostages free

WASHINGTON, June 24 (A.P.) - Several Supreme Court justices today expressed doubts about the financial bargain that freed the 52 American bostages from Iran.

The more you read the newspapers, the more doubts you have," said Justice William Rehnquist of the international tribunal that is supposed to decide American claims against Iran.

And when Mr. Rex Lee, the government's solicitor general-designate, told the court that American claimants are "better off" now than they were when then-president Jimmy Carter froze Iranian assets in November 1979, he drew a number of sharp responses.

"That goes to whether it (the hostage accord) was a good deal or not. It doesn't say whether the president had the power to enter into it." Justice John Paul Stevens shot back.

Mr. Lee said the normal principles of intemational law would help enforce judgments issued by the trihunal, which under the agreement is to take the place of U.S. courts is deciding settlements.

But Justice Potter Stewart drew laughter from the packed courtroom when he said:

"Those traditional sources didn't seem to prevail in the seizure of the hostages."

The nine justices of the Supreme Court convened this morning for a rare summer session on the deal that freed the 52 Americans on Jan. 20. The justices are expected to have a decision in time for a July 19 deadline for transferring about

$2.3 billion in tranian assets overseas. At issue is the president's power, under either Congressional law or the Constitution, to enter into the deal, suspend American lawsuits against Iran and force American claimants to litigate their cases before the trihunal.

Brazil recalls envoy to Israel

TEL AVIV, June 24 (Agencies) - Brazil's umbassador to Israel, Mr. Vasco Mariz, was recalled today for urgent consultations after allegations that an Israeli secret service official said Brazil supplied Iraq with eight tonnes of uranium, embassy officials stated.

Tension in Israeli-Brazilian relations developed after an article was published over the weekend in the Estado de Sao Paulo newspaper saying Mossad agents were the source for a story about alleged Brazilian uranium supplies to Iraq.

Israel has firmly denied that any official of the Mossad intelligence service or any other Israeli official made such a charge.

Brazilian government spokesmen have dismissed the allegations as "absurd" and "inventions" and the Brazilian foreign ministry warned that relations with Israel could be harmed hy Mossad's efforts to spread slander against Brazil.

Under an agreement signed in January 1980, Brazil is to supply natural and slightly enriched uranium to Iraq in the future but Brazilian Foreign Minister Ramiro Saraiva Guerreiro said none had vet been exported.

The ambassador left this morning but his wife said that he expected to return within a week to 10 days.

Sharp retort to U.S.

In another related development, Mr. Begin's office issued a sharp retort to the U.S. State Department in the controversy over whether Washington supplied Israel with documentary evidence confirming the Israeli assessment that Iraq intended to produce nuclear wea-

The purported American document was mentioned in leaks from a closed-door session Mr. Begin had Monday with the Knesset Foreign Affairs and Defence Committee, and a senior Israeli source later confirmed that Israel had an American document saving that Iraq's goal was to make atomic bombs.

State Department spokesman David Passage said vesterday, during his daily briefing in Washington, that he would not confirm the existence of any such document "when the head of a friendly foreign country discusses the nature of whatever exchanges it may have."

Though Mr. Passage did not mention Mr. Begin or Israel by name, the prime minister's office stated that Mr. Begin had not published any document. "The honorable spokesman was not precise in his words," the statement said.

The statement obliquely confirmed the existence of an American document, however, saying that Mr. Begin had revealed "information on a particular document" to the Knesset committee.

If such a document exists, it contradicts the official U.S. position that Washington, while concerned about the direction of Iraq's nuclear programme, had no definitive evidence that Baghdad was planning to build nuclear weapons.

the Republican president also could have trouble getting the Republican-controlled Senate to approve the sale of the Advance Warning and Control System (AWACS) radar planes to Saudi Arabia.

Congressional veto of an arms sale requires rejection by majorities in both the House and Senate. It never has been done. Mr. Reagan announced in March that he intends to sell the Saudis five AWACS planes plus missiles and long-range fuel tanks for 62 F-15 jet fighters already on order. Congress has 30 days to veto the cision," Mr. Long said. "Saudi F-15s, if equipped with additional fuel tanks and air-to-air missiles, could accurately and with little warning strike any target in Israel from any base in Saudi Arabia," he said

The administration has argued the AWACS planes will not have equipment to coordinate Arab attacks on Israel--and will be no threat anyway because Israeli jets could simply shoot the slowmoving craft down.

The Saudis need the AWACS planes to defend their oil fields, and they will be too fat away to spy on Israel, administration officials have testilied.

Indeed, they say U.S.-manned AWACS planes already in Saudi Arabia did not detect Israel's June 7 bombing on Iraq's nuclear reactor.

The administration also has indicated that it is trying to work out an agreement with the Saudis to prevent secret AWACS equipment from being compromised.

Both the teachers explain that voga exercises and meditation can teach "clarity of mind and inner strength." "Therefore problems cease to be problems, but merely obstacles that can be overcome," Valaka said.

During the evening there will be a slide show and lectures on yoga.

"Yoga helps you to be healthier, both physically" and mentally," Pramardan said. "It also has the benefit of taking just a few minutes a day if you have had proper instruction."

At the moment there is only one voga teacher based in Amman-Didi Vidyamayi, who gives lessons at private homes.

"Physical happiness is short-lived; but we want to help people find the inner happiness that exists in every human being," Pramardan said.

Visit to a Jordanian sewage treatment plant

By a Jordan Times Staff Reporter

AMMAN, June 24 — The waste water seminar at the Royal Scientific Society (RSS) ended its proceeding today with a visit to a sewage treatment plant at the Alta Housing Project near Nation.

This particular plant is not yet functioned; but it is representative, seminar participants were told, of treatment plants suiled to Jordanian conditions.

The plant functions on the principle of aeration, settlement, filtration and then disinfection of the waste water. The collected sewerage is aerated in large tanks and then pumped into tanks where it is left to settle. After settlement the supernatent water is filtered through sand and the resultant water is then chlorinated.

In this case, the treated water is discharged into the municipal sewerage system: but others, cases could be dumped in wadis or other water-receiving bodies. The sludge remaining in the settlement tank is pumped out onto drying beds. When dry it is removed for agricultural uses.

The RSS seminar served as an initiator of further studies and discussion on the waste water problem in Jordan. This was the first seminar of its kind and it is hoped that it will be the start of a series of similar events as the subject of waste water develops further.

Camp refugees striving upgrade environmen

This is reflected by shelter improvements made by the refugees themselves, including the construction of additional rooms to eater for the inereases in the members of their families, and connecting their shelters with municipal water and sewerage systems.

Another aspect of the camp refugees' interest in bettering the conditions in the camps displays itself in community projects such as the paving of roadways and the construction of surface drains for storm water, which have been carried out jointly by the refugees and the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees (UNRWA).

THE DAUGHTER of Princess Fahrelnissa Zaid, Mrs. Shirin Deurim Trainer, is a woman of the theatre - she is an actress, a director, e delegate to intarnational theatre conferences, a costume designar and more; and in this field she has achieved much: both in her native Turkey and in what is now her home, America.

Mrs. Trainar is staying in Amman with her mother and her brother, Prince Ra'd Ibn Zaid. This marks her sixth visit to the country her first visit was 16 years ago. She is full of enthusiasm at the development of the city itself, and the wey many people here give so much of their time and money to helping the less fortunata - a tradition that springs from one of the tenats of the Koran, and one which became part of the culture here long before the West developed the idea as part of its scheme of ethics, noted Mrs. Trainer.

Mrs. Trainer attributes most of her considerable success on tha stage to her early upbringing, which was In an atmosphere that "respected, above all, all things Intellectual and artisitc." As a child she lived and went to school in Berlin, Baghdad, and finally Roberts College in Turkey, where she made her debut as Queen Clytemestra in Sophocles' "Electra": a debut which caused one critic to comment "another one" - a reference no doubt to the fact that she was a talent like her mother.

Determined to make it on her own merits, Mrs. Trainar left Turkey to study another consuming passion - int-ernational affairs - at Barnett College. After becoming Incraasingly involved with the theatre group there, she want on to complate threa vears in the drama school at Yale University. In 1959 she returned to Turkey to direct and acl in pleys for the lstanbul Municipal Theatres, where against tremendous mala opposition, derision and disbelief she became virtually overnight and on her own strength, faith and talent - the leading Turkish actor and director.

After raturning to Americe in 1966 Mrs. Trainer, was asked, because of her by then considerable professionel experience, to become a professor of drama by Carnegle and Stanford Universities. This in turn led to the possession of the famous "green card", which allowed Mrs. Trainer to join tha American actors union and so back to the stage again. She becama the First Turkish Muslim to act in the States. Since then Mrs. Trainer has played all kinds of roles, from comedy to the Greek tragedies, in theatres like the Tyrone Guthrie and the Milwaukee Rapertory; and only last year she played leading roles in yat another three plays.

ONE OF Amman's former diplomatic denizens is now back, though in a different guise. Mr. Tahsin Ammeuri, who spent several years with the information office of the British embassy here in the late 1970s before moving to yet sunnier quarters in San Diego, California, is back as the MIddle East regional representative of a major American manufacturer of sporting goods.

SUNLIGHT filtered through the greenery on a warm, clear afternoon on Wednesday as Spanish Ambassador Don Luis de Pedroso and First Secretary Jaime Ponga welcomed an array of guests drawn from Amman's business, diplomatic and journalism communities to the celebration of the birthday anniversary of Spain's King Juan Carlos.

As guests mingled and renewed acqueintances over the delicious cups of cold gaspacho, a muchdiscussed topic was that king's recent run-in with a plate glass window. His injuries were not, however, terribly serious, Cultural Attache Jose Luis de la Presilla said. This kind of accidant can happen to anybody, he remarked: "It happens in the best of families!"

MANY of the same guests, as well as numerous others, reappeared in the ballroom at the Holiday Inn in the evening, for a reception hosted by Director General of Antiquities Adnan Hadidi in honour of outgoing American Centre of Oriental Research (ACOR) director Dr. James Sauer and his successor, Dr. David McCreery.

Many of the guests-mostly Jordanian and American historians and archaeologists-are already acquainted with Dr. McCreery from the work he has done in helping prepare the Antiquities Department's fiva-year plan. But the new director said he is still finding his legs in Jordan, and has a lot to learn.

Let's see

THE INCLUSION of communist ministers in thenew French cabinet of Premier Pierre Mauroy should not evoke as great an outcry as it probably will in the Western world. History shows that political incumbency is a moderating experience that usually saps the stridency from the extremists of both ends of the spectrum. There are a few exceptions to the rule that political responsibility brings with it a powerful measure of temperance and decorum, the three most noteworthy being Israel, South Africa and Kampuchea. The case of the communists in France, however, is a different one altogether. The majority of Europeans who vote for communist parties do not do so out of a deep commitment to the ideological tenets of communism, but rather because they see in the communist movement a potentially effective way to show their opposition to the policies of the incumbent government. The true power of the communists in France is best reflected in the progressively poor showing they made at the three polls during the past two months, dropoing to around ten per cent of the electorate, from a previous 20 per cent,

The danger that now lurks is that the intemperate anti-communism of the Reagan administration will not be able to differentiate between the indigenous French element in the role of the communists in the French government, on the one hand, and the French communists' being only an extension of Soviet policy, on the other. Any president who is silly enough to justify the Israeli bombing of the Iraqi nuclear reactor on the grounds that Iraq does not recognise Israel, as Mr. Reagan has done, is likely to argue that France should be held at arm's length within the Western alliance for including communists in its government. That would be hasty and unwise. It seems appropriate to let the French communists show their colours, which we suspect are French through and through.

Reverse the Argument

has the chance to travel in Europe and the USA these days to see how people there talk of their economic problems. Their mood is very much similar to the western textbook's description of the attitudes in developing countries. People are willing to accept very little blame, project on others and take an almost mundanely fatalistic approach to the future. A talkative taxi driver in London said to me while he was driving me from London to Heathrow airport: "Look governor, all cars are Japanese. You got a believe they are smart, those Japanese. The English our industry is in a bad mess. The Japanese are taking everything -- cars, cameras, watches, electronics, textiles, ships -- everything. We cannot best them, you know. Mrs. Thatcher is trying. She is honest. But na, she is not going to make it. They prohably will not

IT IS AMAZING for one who

The British in general believe that what Mrs. Margaret Thatcher is doing is right. They also respect her fortitude. Yet, she is accused by some of being a theoretician. A successful Scottish businessman, who owns a baby dolls and games factory, said in pain: "Her austerity plans might prove to be very costly to us. if Mr. Foot takes over -- Oh God furbid -he will overreact and compound our economic problems."

What Mrs. Thatcher is doing is pushing the British industry to economics and resort to cost-saving techniques. She is setting the example in government by trimming to miuimum shape every redundant government expenditure item. As a result, the biggest waste is in the excessive use of labour and modern techniques which add to the cost of production without reducing the cost of wages.

The obvious result of such a policy is the rise in the rate of unemployment. This is why the U.K. government is trying to expand its markets aborad, including the entrance into camsultative contracts which can use British personnel. Yet should this policy continue to its ultimate end, it is going to lead to a new migratory wave from the U.K. to its natural allies in the USA, Australia, South Africa and Zimbabwe (Rhodesia).

While sitting in a restaurant, a white Rhodesian couple came and sat at a table close to mine. The couple struck a conversation with the waitress who was Irish and came from a large family. They gave her their card and asked her to contact them, and promised her that

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the text of a statement made by the permanent representative of Jordan to the United Nations, Dr. Hazem Nuseibeh, before the U.N. Security Council on June 12, 1981 on the Israeli attack on the Iraqi nuclear reactor on June 7.

Mr. President:

As this is my first appearance before the Security Council this month, I wish to extend to you, distinguished Ambassador Porfirio Munoz Ledo, my heartiest congratulations on your assumption of the Presidency of this esteemed council. Your exemplary record in the councils of our United Nations has earned you the esteem, the friendship and the distinction which you so richly deserve as one of the most accomplished and versatile statesmen, in the best traditions of friendly Mexico's fearless fidelity to the Charter, to human freedom and dignity and to amity amongst nations.

May I wish you, Mr. President, all success in

Not at all, for no power in the world can stop the inexorable scientific progress of humankind in sciences, in the humanities and in all other fields of knowledge. The Israelis in their hour of misguided exhilaration and cuphoria, should know, if they don't, that for countless centuries. Iraq had been a beacon of civilisation and culture, for the whole world. They can never be wonting or thwarted in scientific and technological advancement. The Israelis know perfectly well that the attack on the small scientific reactor, under international inspection and control -- an inspection which had taken place earlier this year -- was never intended for other than peaceful purposes and scientific progress. The production of atomic bombs does not require the existence of a small and controlled nuclear reactor. A small quantity of plutonium could produce a bomb or bombs, if a country wills, as a student from Princeton demonstrated some three years ago.

Iraq, as we all know, has signed and ratified the non-proliferation treaty, in good faith and has subjected all its facilities to close international "The possible need to go nuclear, rarely talked about publicly in Israel before, has been raised with increasing frequency in the past few months. The centre for strategie studies at Tel Aviv University, headed by former army intelligence chief Aharun Yariv is presently completing a study on the subject. Dayan told a closed political forum recently that Israel might consier the nuclear option because of the arms race,"

In 1968, the U.S. secretary of state, Mr. Dean Rusk, declared and I quote:

The spread of nuclear weapons would aggravate our difficulties in maintaining friendly relations with parties to a continuing dispute. If one party 'went nuclear' we might have to decide whether to help the other party, directly or through security assurances, whether to sever economic aid to the country acquiring atomic weapons, or what I have said seems too incredible tthis is how an official in Prime Minus achem Begin's administration put it with a wry smile as published in the repu-York Times, Thursday, June 11, 1081

"If Begin had been President of the Uni instead of Truman in 1949, there would arms race."

What he, of course, means is that he watom bombed the 250 million entrens is iet Union to annihilation. I don't tlink thean people would be tetribly amuse dangerous, criminal advice, not then today! This is a code for world destinetic for legitimate self-defence.

But he has so far spared the People's of China from his wrath and his visio itimate self-defence and scenre bounda withstanding its unfailing support of . Palestinian rights. Perhaps his atomic st not yet large enough to take all those to adversaries at once. But it surely revealconcept is of scentity and legitimate self-The Israeli Prime Minister did not reli June from lecturing America to mind its iness. He said: "We do not accept America or any uthe advise us as to how we should use our we If that is the case why does he erawl or to accept American armaments and h usions of assistance without which his citt would be eut to size. Or does he think th rica is a part of his domain? Or has he a unilaterally the U.S.-Israel arms agree 1952? The use of force and the threat of for are the core of the Charter have been advocated as an appropriate instrument i The non-proliferation treaty with all ernational safeguards have been practic ulled as an instrument to regulate the uses of nuclear energy. The concept c boundaries has as a first step been extenthan a thousand kikometres, beyond the territories. Begin is confronting the wir total break-down of the United Nations If this fiendish plan is to be thwarted eemed Security Council can do little less following steps in accordance with the and humanity's international order bases emational law.

AL RA'l: Clearly, the proposal made by Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev to limit the arms race and avoid threatening world peace implies important connotations which refute U.S. claims that the region is threatened by the Soviet danger, and hence should be the central issue to preoccupy the region.

Brezhneu's assurances, emphasising that the Soviet Union has no aggressive designs or intentions toward any Western or Easter, countries should be considered with respect. However, it is not these assurances alone which refute the U.S. claims of the socalled Soviet threat, U.S. practices themselves have already effectively repudiated these claims,

It is common knowledge that U.S. aircraft and bombs were used to atlack the Iraqi nuclear reactor as well as the provocative U.S. information, as Begin revealed 2 days ago.

Moreover, the United States brandished its veto to shield Israel from punishment by the Security Council. It boasted, and continues to boast, that U.S. aid to israel will not be affected in spite of what has happened.

U.S. money and grants enable Israel to continue its aggressive settlement policy in the occupied Arab Land. The Arabs and the rest of the world are familiar with all of these facts and with the fact that it is the United States that is seeking to achieve military superiority in the region through Israel. In spite of all this, the United States then tries to intimidate the Arabs; whom it has often altacked with its arm, Israel, with the Soviet threat and asks them to meekly join its umbrella. This will never bappen.

The Arabs no longer consider the United States as a mere ally of Israel, but as an enemy which strikes at them with its Israeli arm.

The Arabs, who have determined to keep their region away from international conflicts feel that it is their duty to confront the U.S. umberlla to keep the region away from harm.

The conclusion to be drawn from U.S. practices is that it is U.S. aggression against us rather than the alleged Soviet threat to us that is the source of our misery. It is this U.S. aggression which all the Arabs must confront, resist and deter as well as cut down to size the Israeli arm with which it imposes its arrogance and evil.

AL DUSTOUR: The European arena is one of the feasible alternatives open to the Arabs if they decide to conclude their relations with the United States because of its open plotting with the Zionist enemy. In spite of this fact, Arab initiative to develop the new European tendencies in favour of the Arabs are still very unsatisfactory.

The Arabs lost an opportunity which may never present itself again by failing to take advantage of German and French National feelings, which were running very high because of Begin's provocative attacks and slanders against the French and German Leaders whom he tried to hold responsible for pogroms of Jews in Europe. As usual, the Arabs were slack and gave Israel the opportunity of calming the situation, which otherwise could have been an important turning point in the European stand toward Israel.

When Francois Mitterrand became president of France, the Arahs were overwhelmed by his pro-Israeli statements and made no attempts to create rapprochement with the new French leadership, which is ruled by party considerations and is not merely subject to Mitterrand's statements and stands. French policy is also governed by the overall European stand, which will emerge more clearly during the EEC summit conference in Brussels at the end of the month. Moreover, British Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington is about to become chairman of the EEC Council of Ministers. Lord Carrington is well-known for his balanced views and his receptivity for the Arah and Palestinian stands.

Such developments are positive indications of which the Arabs must take advantage with all their abilities and resources to further develop them into concrete measures for the achievement of a just, durable peace in the Middle East.

your ardvous task. 1 sbould also wish to pay tribute to your distinguished predecessor. Ambassador Masabiro inguished predecessor Ambassador Masahiro Nisibori of friendly Japan for the outstanding manner in which he had bandled the duties of this high office during the month of May. The Security Council is in session today under a very dark, ominous and menacing cloud. Perhaps, in years to come, this meeting may well be evaluated as one of the Security Council's most momentous meetings for the profound consequences with which it is inescapably fraught, not only for the future peace and stability of the Middle East, but far beyood. There are so many ramifications to the perfidious aggression against the Osirak nuclear research site in Baghdad as to make it impelling for the Security Council to be seized with a fundamental stocktaking, pertaining to the continued survival of an international order governed by international law or its demise.

Is it to be supplanted by the criminal lawlessness and international terrorism which has been the hallmark of Israeli policy, before and since its inception more than three decades ago. The expanded Israel of 1947-1948, was not baptised by the holy waters of the River Jordan but by the blood of mnocent defenseless civilians in the mass massacres of men, women and children at Deir Yassin west of Jerusalem, and many other towns and villages throughout Palestine; the blowing-up of defenseless homes and hotels such as Samiramis and the King David with victims buried under the dehris now all but forgotten and unnamed; the slaying of Lord Moyne, British Minister of State in Cairo in the midst of a global war; and Britisb soldiers off-duty hanged and dangled from the branches of trees, or a venerable Count Bernadotte, assassinated in cold blood in the hallowed streets of Jerusalem, while serving as United Nations mediator in the pursuit of justice and

The Palestinian and Lebanese peoples have seen their countries and civilians devastated by ruthless and indiscriminate attacks by sea, air and on the ground in the name of Israeli security. It is to be hoped that those who claim to be concerned about international terrorism, will read the thick compendium of Israeli systematic terrorism to realise who is the foremost terrorist in the world.

These foul deeds which had initiated and nurtured terrorism as a deliberate instrument of policy, are but the genesis of an unsatiated record of overt and covert acts of aggression unique in their consistency and diversity. There is only one difference between yesterday and today. The sticks of gelignite and dynamite which tore to shreds innocent and unarmed civilians and brought about their dispersal have since been heightened by the deadly appurtenances of modern technology.

Surprised by the sneak attack on Iraq and the violation of the air space in depth of Jordan and Saudi Arabia?

Not at all, for an aggressive and expansionist Israel, this falls within its axiomatic norms of conduct. And besides, it has been foretold by many an expert observer a long, long while ago.

Daunted that a small scientific research centre, with a few pounds of uranium fuel manifestly for peaceful purposes, should have been largely or. totally incapacitated?

inspection and scrutiny. What then is the real casualty of Israel's audacious aggression? It is no less than the sanctity of the non-proliferation treaty itself. The esteemed Security Council is all too familiar with the incessant pleas and urgings of numerous non-atomic states for practical and effective guarantees by the major powers against nuclear threats and blackmail. The billions of humanbeings around the world will not forfeit their freedom and security or live in the shadow of nuclear destruction by international archterrorists which is what Menachem Begin and his clique have all along been. Armed to the hilt by a huge arsenal of atomic weaponry and the sophisticated systems to deliver them, all the states of the Middle East have been brutally alerted to this awesome fact and will no doubt be exploring all available options, hopefully through the Security Council, hut if it should fail, hy all other available means -- whether through political alignments or self-reliance. This may very well someday, somehow put the Middle East region on the collision course of a nuclear holocaust. This is the message of the June 7 aggression against Baghdad. It is a warlike act and should be dealt with in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Charter.

Israel, has over more than a decade, tenaciously refused to subscribe to the non-proliferation treaty and bas kept its nuclear atom bomb reactors ex-communicado even to its greatest benefactors without whose incalculable assistance, it would not be in a position to trample upon the peace and security of the world, as it is doing today. Even senior senators like Howard Baker were refused access to the Dimona or demon nuclear plant. The explanation is anything but difficult. For

I had written an editorial in that same year in one of our leading newspapers in Jerusalem, Al-Difaa', warning of the dangerous long-term consequences of Israel's pursuit of this goal. Sevcral warnings were given to various concerned governments in the mid-60's when incontrovernible evidence became available to my government that Israel had reached a threshold capability. And yet Israel's determination to surge ahead was met with bellicose connivance and compromised by the special United States-Israel relationship essentially anchored in domestic political imperatives.

You should have seen Senator Cranston the day following the unabashed aggression and while the rest of the world was unanimous in condemnation, defending poor tiny Israel for its perfidious attack. He might have bought a little crib for his pampered child, already the sixtb or seventh nuclear state. In a special dispatch for the Christian Science Monitor. Thursday, June 4, 1981, its correspondent in Jerusalem Abraham Rabinovitch had this to say: whether to stand aside, even though the result might be a war which would be hard to contain."

His analysis is as valid and rational today as it was when he made it thirteen years ago. Conidemnations will hardly assuage the genuine apprehensions of the 150 million people of the region faced with mortal danger for their very survival. They have no reason or interest in fighting phantom enemies, hut they have every reason to fight Phantom and F-15 and F-16 planes which are showering death and destruction upon their lands.

it is time for the United States and others to take full cognizance of this fact, and, to sever all forms of assistance as provided for under Chapter VII of the Charter, in response to a hlatant act of aggression which is before us for all to see. Failing. that, the peoples of the Middle East will be left with no alternative but to regard the donors of the enormous assistance to the dangerous gunman at large as accessory after the crime of aggression. Begin has stated defiantly that he could not care less for American condemnation or Arab threats. One day he will discover that Arah security can never be compromised without the most serious consequences, and at any rate this is our own prohlem which we must and will resolve. As for his disdain for American condemnation, it should he an acid test of the United States freedom to decide what is in its best interests and the ability to act accordingly.

During the past several years the lines have been grotesquely blurred as to what is an American decision and what is an Israeli penchant drawing upon the unabounded resources of a great power.

indeed, all of us at the United Nations are facing one of those turning points on issues which strike at the heart of the United Nations system. Can we tolerate an international order, in which one state arrogates unto itself, in total disdain of the Charter, the right to commit a flagrant and confessed armed aggression against another state on totally spurious grounds of subjective supermoral -- as Begin, the arch-terrorist describes them -- of so-called legitimate self-defence? What kind of a self-defence imperative, particularly coming from a country which intelligence experts estimate is already in possession of a huge arsenal of atomic and hydrogen bomhs? Is any country entitled to commit aggression in order to maintain a monopoly of the weapons of mass destruction and blackmail hundreds of millions of people to submission or annihilation?

There are already more than thirty states who have, in varying degrees, atomic energy programmes for peaceful purposes. Are they going to stop their scientific and economic progress because Menachem Begin does not like the faces or the policies of their governmental leaders who refuse to condone aggression, expansion and occupation? And yet this is the loud message which the sneak raid on Baghdad and his almost daily utterances are sending to the world. He has declared audaciously that he would perpetrate similar operations not only against Iraq, but elsewhere. In his mendacity, he would not mind attacking perhaps india or Pakistan for being staunchly supportive of Arah and Palestinian rights. And if One -- The Security Council is declare Israel as an aggressor in act with the Charter.

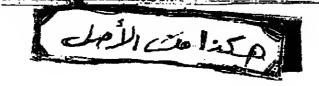

Twn -- Being so declared, the Securneil has no alternative but to imp sanctions provided for under Cha of the Charter.

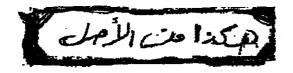

Three -- Since Israel's concept of le self-defence is predicated on t truction of other peoples and count ardless of houndaries, Israeli and tallations should be opened to inter inspection and control under 11 proliferation treaty which Israel ad refuses to sign.

Palme meets Iraqi leader

BEIRUT, June 24 (R) - United Nations special envoy Mr. Olof Palme has discussed ways of settling the Iran-Iraq war with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, the official News Agency reported from Bughdad.

His vish to Baghdad coincides with reports of increased fighting round the besieged Iranian oil centre of Abadan, at the head of the Gulf.

It reported President Hussein as saying he wanted a quick, peaceful and honourable settlement .

In a separate despatch, the agenev said President Hussein also received a special envoy from King Khaled of Saudi Arabia. It said that Saudi Education Minister Abdul Aziz Al Khuweiter conveyed a message of support for Irag.

JORDAN ELECTRICITY AUTHORITY

The opening of the most modern Optical Science Centre in the Middle East

Dr. Mohammad Addoub Al Zaben says the Optical Science Centre is a big gain for Jordan

AMMAN, June 24 (J.T.) — Jordan is a pioneering country, always surging ahead and excelling in science and culture. Its main resource is the determination of its conscientious youth to bring Jordan to international standards in these fields.

On Sunday evening, June 21, 1931, the Optical Science Centre was opened in Shm-

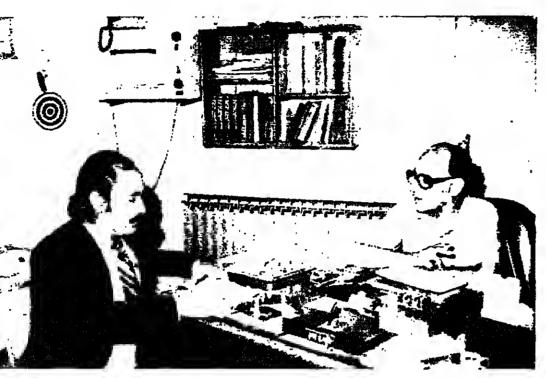

The centre is provided with the most sophisticated visual equipment in the world. For the first time in Jordan, computers are introduced to measure aye sight. The equipment is being operated by highly qualified specialists. The accuracy of the equipment is considered fool-proof.

After seeing the centre and its equipment, those attending expressed their satisfaction at the high standard Jordan has achleved in the field. During the ceremony, the Jordan Timas correspondent met Minister of Communications Mohammad Addoub Al Zaben, and the eye specialist at the Hussein Medical Centre, Dr. Ibrahim Ayish.

Asked about his impressions, Dr. Zaben said that the Jordanian government always encourages all scientific advances benefiting Jordanians. Jordan is also a forerunner in scientific activities, he said. This centre is a boon to Jordan, and "we hope that the officials of the centre will keep pace with latest advances in the science to maintain their high standards," Dr. Zaben said.

covery of the contact lenses, the quality of the lenses developed quickly, While in the past these lenses were a peculiarity and a luxury they have become internationally familiar, even a necessity. Moreover, they are now preferred to the traditional spectacles, and this is due to several reasons--the discovery of a new brand of soft lensesin addition to the wellknown hard lenses. The lenses have become ultra thin. Furthermore, the lenses allow the passage of oxygen in sufficient quantities to the comea to preserve its vitality and reiaxation.

Furthermore, the contact lenses are easy to use, whether by putting them on or removing them, and they give the user a better range of vision.

It is no longer necessary to remove contact lenses from the eyes daily or when going to bed. It is now possible to use these lenses for long periods, well over six months, without the need to remove them, except for very short periods to give the eyes rest. For these reasons, contact lenses are popular with businessmen and intellectuals.

Furthermore, this is a blessing for athletes because they can carry on athletics without need for cumbersome spectacles getting in the way and without embarrassment.

One should not forget here about ladies, who have become free from the need for spectacles. They can now enhance their perception through the use of ordinary or coloured contact lenses.

In order to clarify the picture for readers and give the subject its due attention, the Jordan Times correspondent met with two leading eye specialists. Dr. Adnan Halaseh and Dr. Zuheir Awwad.

Asked about his personal opinion of contact lenses and whether he would advise his patients to use them, Dr. Zuheir Awwad said:"I would advise a patient to use con-

There are cases where spectacles are useless. and the patient should use contact lenses in such a case, for example cornea diseases.

"On the other hand, there are cases where spectacles would solve the problem while contact lenses would not. Furthermore, there are several other clinical cases which inhibit the use of contact lenses."

Dr. Awwad said that "a great development has taken place in contact lenses since the 1970s, particularly as regar the mutter of convenience. Contact lenses can theoretically be used now for a full six months without removal, particularly after the discovery of the soft lenses which was approved by the Food and Drug Administration in

Dr. Awwad added: "I prefer an examination in advance before deciding to use contact lenses. Consequently, if the patient is not allergic to the material from which the lenses are mada, then there is no reason why the lenses should not be used."

Asked whether the patient has the right to choose the contact lenses, Dr. Awwad said: If the patient chooses contact lenses after examination, I would not object, or you might need a simple treatment before using them. Sometimes the patient sees better with spectacles than with contact lanses. If he accepts this situation, this is his choice. Baauty has its own lenses at all.

Asked for his personal opinion about contact lenses, Dr. Adnan Halaseh said: "There are several advantages to contact lenses, and there are cases in which one has to use them, especially when the cornea is injured. In such a case, the contact lenses should be placed to isolate the cornea from the eyelid. One characteristic of contact lenses is the absorption of water. This advantage has been utilised to benefit patients who use medicines constantly, where

Upsurge in Afghan rebel attacks gives Soviet troops tough time

ISLAMABAD, June 24 (A.P.) - Western diplomatic reports today said there has been an upsurge of guerrilla activity in and around Kabul, inc-

Meanwhile, a West European diplomatic source here said he has received confirmation that Kandahar. Afghanistan's secondlargest city was hit in its central area by Soviet air strikes last week. An Afghan evewitness said earlier that hundreds were believeo killed in the aerial attack. On Monday, two members of President Babrak Karmal's Parcham Party faction were fatally shot by unknown assailants thought to be anti-government insurgents, one near Kabul University and the other at the capital's Karte Parwan area, the diolomatic reports said.

Urban guerrillas reportedly killed by mistake two children June 17 in an attack which also left dead the intended targets, two party members. One report said the gunmen apologised to the dead. children's parents and offered cash compensation.

The separate diplomatic reports gave similar accounts of a passing military vehicle hit by a tossed hand grenade in Kabul's Darul Anan section. On said tecreational club for Marxist Party members came under rocket anack during the week and at least two armoured vehicles were put out of action in front of the education ministry.

Both quoted numerous sources as saying heavy fighting has been reported at the former royal resort of Paghman, west of Kabul, and in parts of the countryside between the two cities, the reports said. Few details have emerged but artillery and air support.

ROME, June 24 (A.P.) - The Italian Socialist Party has achieved a major electoral success in local elections and is emerging as a growing alternative to the long-ruling Christian Democrats and the powerful Communist Party.

The Communists, the largest Marxist party in the West, consolidated their strength in the north - keeping control of bome city governments of Rome and Genoa. But they slipped badly in the south, even falling behind the Socialists in Bari, a leading industrial city on the Adriatic coast.

An estimated nine million Italians -- nearly one fourth of the electorate - were eligible to cast ballot in the voting Sunday and Monday, but nearly 20 per cent of those eligible stayed home, the highest absentee rate in a post-war election, while another three per cent cast blank ballots as a protest, occording to interior ministry figures. In Rome, the Communists took 35.9 per cent of the vote, up from 35.5 per cent in 1976 when they became the largest party in the "City of Popes." while the Socialists went up from 7.6 per cent to 10.2 per cent. The Christian Democrats slipped from 33.1 per cent to 29 per cent in the city. In Genoa, the Communists had 39.6 per cent of the vote, up two percentage points from 1919 parliamentary elections but down from 41.5 per cent in 1976 municipal elections. The Socialists went up four percentage points from 1916. But the biggest surprise was Bari, where the Socialists jumped to 23.3 per cent from 12.6 per cent in the 1976 local elections, overtaking the Communists who fell to 15.9 per cent from 24.8 per cent. The Christian Democrats remained the leading party in the city, although slipping to 33.4 per cent from 38 per cent.

A West European diplomatic report said renewed factional fighting has erupted at the Rishkoor Garrison outside Kabul and added at least five soldiers were dead.

Other incidents in the Kabul area included raids on a police station near the city's grain silos, located in a western suburb, and on a police pout near Pul-1-Charkhi, about 10 kilometres to the east. Dozens of Soviet-made AK 47 rifles reportedly were seized.

Hundreds of women and chi-Idren arrived at Kabul hospitals late last week for treatment of wounds following reports of heavy bombing in Wardak Province. One report said there had been a series of Soviet air strikes beg-

The uneasy truce, broken by occasional bloody incidents, has survived vince then, but there is no peace accord. The United States still has about 39,000 military personnel here to support South Korea's 600,000-strong armed forces. North Korea's military strength is estimated at 700,000. The Korean peninsula was divided along the 38th Parallel at the end of World War 11, and attempts at unification since then have been fruitless. The crowds at today's rally endorsed enthusiastically a resolution calling for North Korea to respond positively to proposals made Jan. 12 and repeated June 5 by President Huan Doo-Hwan for summit talks between the leaders of the south and north. The proposals said such contacts could iny the groundwork for moves aimed at again making the country one.

North Korea rejected the plan, asserting it would not deal with the present Scoul authorities.

In the years since the end of World War II, Poland has been loosely allied with the Soviet Union in the Warsaw Pact alliance.

A chief concern of the Soviets in Poland's labour crisis is that Poland will not be a reliable member of the Warsaw Pact, and jeopardise the security of the Soviet Union's western border.

BELFAST, Ireland, June 24 (A.P.) - There were faint hopes today of ending the hunger-strikes in Northern Ireland's Maze Prison as the British government and convicted guerrillas made statements indicating they may be ready to compromise. Britain's Northern Ireland Secretary Humphrey Atkins and a statement from the seven guerrillas currently fasting both spoke of the need to settle the prison crisis that has triggered violence across the province. But there was no clear sign from either side that any major breakthrough was imminent that could end the bunger-strike that began March 1. Officials at the government's Northern Ireland

Office said they saw little immediate reason for any optimism. The statements were released as the British braced for another

Atlanta slaying suspect to go before grand jury

ATLANTA, June 24 (A.P.) - A grand jury will be asked within the pext month to return a murder indictment against Wayne B. Williams, the free-lance photographer charged in the latest of a string of slayings of young blacks, officials say. District Attorney Lewis Slaton said yesterday he will ask the Fulton County grand jury to indict

Williams in the strangulation death of Nathaniel Cater, 27, whose body was found in the Chattahoochee River last month.

Mr. Slaton's comments came after Magistrate Arnold Thompson ruled that authorities had probable cause to arrest the 23year-old Williams in connection with Cater's death. Judge Thompson ordered him beld for grand jury action.

At the court hearing, prosecutors called three witnesses. who outlined a case involving fibre evidence and a pre-dawn enc-ounter between Williams and police on a Chattaboochee River bri-

After the hearing, however, Mary Welcome, Williams' lawyer, characterised the state's case as

Meanwhile, in Hampton, Vir-. ginia, a Federal Bureau of Investigaion (FBI) agent who worked with Atlanta police on the case said the hairs and fibres linking Williams to Cater's slaving were also found on the bodies of several of the 27 other victims in the string of deaths.

"He (Williams) looks pretty good for a good percentage of the killings," FBI Special Agent Supervisor John Douglas told southern correctional officials at a conference.

Yesterday's hearing in the packed, heavily guarded court room here was the first court appearance for Williams. He did not testify.

State Crime Lab technician Larry Peterson testified that laboratory tests showed a strong resemblance between fibres found on Cater's body and hair and fibres taken from Williams' home during a June 3 search.

MADRID, June 24 (A.P.) - The government has uncovered a new military plot in Spain, apparently directed against King Juan Carlos, who crushed an attempt by right-wing officers to seize power four months ago, Spanish police officials said today.

Reporting the arrest of three army officers and four civilians exactly four months to the day after the abortive coup, the interior ministry officials did not directly link the plot with the king.

But they said it was not connected with the Feb. 23 attempt to overthrow the civilian government and indicated it was timed to coincide with the 43-year-old monarch's Saint's Day being celebrated today.

They gave no further details and said the plot still was heing investigated.

The king was scheduled to hold a formal reception tonight in the royal palace in downtown Madrid to mark his Saint's Day.

The officials, who declined to be identified, said the arrests were made yesterday by a special unit investigating right-wing violence.

Among those under arrest, police said, was Maj. Ricardo Saenz de Ynestrillas.

He was convicted but released after a short prison term 18 months ago along with Lt. Col. Antonio Tejero, the paramilitary Civil Guard officer who led the storming of parliament in the February .coup attempt.

The news agency Europa Press said Maj. Ynestrillas was expected to face charges this time of military rebellion, the same charge on which Col. Tejero has been imprisoned and indicted.

Other officers reported arrested were Col. Ricardo Garcitorena Salta, reported by newspapers at
